House Panel Set To Approve Tough Anticrime Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under heavy pressure from the administration and the House Republican leadership a Judiciary subcommittee moved today toward expected approval of a tough anticrime bill.

The bill, moved along by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., to head off a GOP threat to force action, is aimed primarily at organized crime and includes stiff antibombing provisions.

Seek New Vote On Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders looked today toward making another attempt to force a vote on a constitutional amendment to junk the Electoral College in favor of the direct election of presidents.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had said a second attempt to end debate today on the proposal would depend on whether a new attempt would be more successful than an effort last Thursday, which failed.

The vote then was 54 for invoking the Senate's debate-closing rule and 36 against, or six short of the required two-thirds margin.

The amendment would do away with the Electoral College and give the election to the presidential candidate who received 40 per cent or more of the popular vote. Failure of a candidate to receive 40 per cent would result in a runoff election between the two front runners.

Opponents who succeeded in beating back an attempt to invoke the Senate's debate-closing rule last Thursday say a direct vote would destroy the two-party system and eliminate the role of the states in the election process. They were led by Sens. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., and Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C.

Supporters of the proposed amendment, were admittedly hard-pressed to pinpoint how they could overcome the defeat but said they would keep trying.

Since last Thursday's vote defeating the cloture move, Senate debate on the proposed amendment has halted while action proceeded on other measures in the drive for adjournment of Congress by the middle of next month.

Palme To Accept Red Help To Keep Sweden's Top Post

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme, whose Social Democratic party lost its majority in Sunday's general election, made it clear his party will accept Communist help to stay in power.

"This is a clear setback," Palme said of his party's unofficial capture of 166 of the 350 seats in the newly reorganized one-house legislature. Three major nonsocialist parties, which had hoped for enough votes to form a coalition government, won 167 seats, and the Communist party 17.

"We have lost votes both to the Communists and the nonsocialist camp," Palme said, "and the blame rests wholly with the party leadership and me. We did not put across important campaign issues the right way, and international trends that forced price hikes and a tough economic policy may have contributed."

Palme, 43, made it clear that the Social Democrats were ready to continue ruling with Communist aid.

"The nonsocialists failed to get the majority they wanted to form a government," he said. "We will pursue our policy for a more equal society and the Communists can take it or leave it. It is up to them whether they will topple a workers' government."

Communist party leader C. H. Hermansson replied, "We will carry on an independent policy fighting for our program, but we will never topple a socialist government to help the nonsocialist bloc gain power."

Hermansson said one of his party's primary aims is to keep Sweden out of the European Common Market.

The Swedish Communist party got about 100,000 more votes than it did in 1968, the year of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

An estimated 85 per cent of Sweden's 5.6 million registered voters cast ballots, including some 350,000 20-year-old newcomers. Final results will not be known for 10 days, after officials count about 675,000 mailed votes. Also at stake were 25,000 county and municipal offices in 6,500 districts.

Palme said the Social Democrats were ready to continue ruling with Communist aid.

Auto Talks To Resume; Outlook Dim

UAW President Says Speedy Accord Unlikely

DETROIT (AP) — Top officials of the United Auto Workers returned to Detroit today to prepare for a resumption of contract talks with strikebound General Motors Corp.

The negotiations are to resume Tuesday, the start of the second week of the strike. There have been no national-level negotiations since contracts between GM and the UAW expired at midnight last Monday and the strike by 344,000 auto workers began.

Leonard Woodcock, president of the UAW, told a national television audience Sunday that there is "no quick settlement in view."

Woodcock, Irving Bluestone, codirector of the union's GM department, and other top officials spent most of the past five days touring the nation and meeting with local union leaders.

The purpose of their trip was to seek rank-and-file support for the strike, discuss strategy with the local officials and get negotiations on local in-plant issues going.

Woodcock has said that local disputes at virtually all of the 153 bargaining units must be settled before the union will go back to work nationally. These local issues range from the placement of cooling fans along assembly lines to the speed at which those lines move.

In 1967, when national contracts last were negotiated, the last local settlement at GM was not signed until one year and nine days after the start of bargaining.

Nationally, when negotiations broke down, the union and GM were 25 cents an hour apart on the first-year wage increase. The average hourly wage of GM workers under the old contract was $4.02.

Woodcock said Sunday there was "room for compromise" on the UAW's two other primary demands—restoration of an unlimited cost-of-living escalator and retirement at a $500 monthly pension after 30 years service, without regard to age.

U.S. Behind In Collection Of Bad Debts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department, while admitting that its collections of debts owed the federal government declined last year, says it won't resort to private bill collectors.

"It's not just a matter of going out and getting the bucks," said Leo Pellerzi, assistant attorney general for administration.

"You have to have justice," he said. "We're not going to throw old people out of their homes or cause families to disintegrate or put people on welfare."

The department will strengthen its collection procedures, however, through assignment of four field supervisors and an attorney in each U. S. Attorney's office to supervise collections and regularly review uncollected debts. Pellerzi said FBI reports will be made on debtors who haven't paid within three months.

Syrian Intervention Increases Chance Of Involvement

U.S. Condemns Mideast Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reported Syrian intervention in the Jordanian civil war appears to increase the possibility of direct U.S. involvement in the conflict. But U.S. officials hope urgent appeals to Russia, Syria and other nations will avert broadened fighting.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers condemned the alleged invasion Sunday as "irresponsible and imprudent" and warned: "This action carries with it the danger of a broadened conflict."

"We call upon the Syrian government to end immediately this intervention in Jordan," he said, "and we urge all other concerned governments to impress upon the government of Syria the necessity of withdrawing the forces which have invaded Jordan."

The Nixon administration's initial reaction took the form of the Rogers denunciation and warning and a direct request to the Soviet government, plus diplomatic appeals to other governments, to put pressure on Syria to end its intervention.

The appeal to Moscow was made through the ranking Soviet diplomat here, Minister-Counselor Yury M. Vorontsov.

Russia is Syria's major arms supplier and U. S. officials assume Moscow can exert considerable influence in Damascus. In a sense, the publicized U.S. appeal was a challenge to the Russian government to demonstrate what it is willing to do to curb the peril of spreading conflict in the Middle East.

The official and public position of the Nixon administration has been one of concern for more than 400 Americans, including 38 out of 54 hostages held by the Palestinian guerrillas, with the possibility that force would be used if it was judged necessary to evacuate them.

However, unofficial reports from Chicago last Friday, following briefings of editors there by President Nixon, described Nixon as being prepared to intervene forcibly in Jordan if he thought such action was warranted. (Please Turn To Page 2)

Soviet Hard Line Upsets Hopes For Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration source says the U.S.-Soviet arms curb talks — a showpiece of President Nixon's Era of Negotiations policy — may fail if the Kremlin pursues a hard-line policy.

Speaking under rules barring direct quotation, the source said of the strategic arms limitation talks — SALT:

We can't say that it will succeed, but we can say that if they fail it will be as a result of a political decision, on the basis that the Soviets have decided to adopt a hard-line.

These remarks, made to newsmen in Chicago and released by the White House over the weekend, contrasted in tone with earlier administration statements. President Nixon, for example, said at a May 3 news conference:

"We're still far apart, but I will predict now that there will be an agreement, and when that agreement comes, it will be of great significance."

And last month the officials told another group he was extremely optimistic about the SALT prospects. But speaking in Chicago he said he is now cautiously optimistic about the outcome of the negotiations.

No explanation was given for the apparent dampening of U.S. expectations.

Among items other sources reported about the secret talks are:

— The Soviets made no response, other than asking typical questions, to the U.S. missile freeze offer made late in the Vienna negotiating session which ended Aug. 14.

U.S. negotiators hope for a substantive reply when the talks resume in Helsinki Nov. 2.

— Soviet negotiators turned down a proposal by U.S. Ambassador Gerard C. Smith for wording in the joint communiqué at the end of the initial round of talks in Vienna which would have indicated the two sides were reaching agreement in principle.

The administration official in Chicago saw no direct setback for a SALT agreement in what he termed the flagrant Soviet and Egyptian violations of the Mideast cease-fire.

Any proposed U. S. Soviet disarmament deal does not depend heavily on good faith and trust, he explained. He said a Soviet attempt to cheat on a SALT agreement would be spotted quickly enough by U. S. intelligence to prevent an upsetting of the strategic balance against the United States.

World Money Chief Sees Need For Stronger Dollar

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The managing director of the International Monetary Fund told the World Bank's annual meeting today he hopes the United States will strengthen its balance of payments position by working to eliminate inflation and restore price stability.

At the same time, Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, chief official of the 116-nation body, proposed that inflation-hit industrial countries consider instituting wage and price controls.

The French IMF chief did not specifically single out the United States in exploring this idea, but declared that wage and price controls may be particularly useful in tackling continued cost-plus forces "at a time when fiscal and monetary policies have stamped out excess demand and the economy is operating below capacity."

This summarized the current situation in the United States and left the implication that Schweitzer was directing his remarks to Washington, among others.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the opening session of the IMF-World Bank annual meeting, Schweitzer underlined the importance to the international monetary system of obtaining a sustained improvement in the U.S. balance of payments position.

While noting some "encouraging" recent signs in U.S. and Canadian price developments, Schweitzer said over-all stabilization efforts against stubborn inflationary momentum had met with some disappointment.

"In both countries wage settlements are still running substantially in excess of normal productivity growth and the task of economic management is clearly difficult," he declared.

He added: "The United States and Canada will need to persevere in their protracted stability." (Please Turn To Page 2)

Report Killer Trails From Jumbo Jet Wingtips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has discovered that wingtips on the new jumbo jets are creating tornado-like winds in the sky capable of tearing apart light aircraft and hurling other jetliners toward the ground.

The potential hazards of the funnel-shaped winds spinning off the wings of the 747s and C5s had been underrated, said Federal Aviation Administration officials familiar with a series of flight tests now being concluded.

The tests showed, for example, that the swirling winds trail behind the huge planes for many miles and do not readily dissipate at high altitudes. They disclosed, too, that the invisible turbulence can endanger passenger airliners as well as small planes.

Because of the winds — called wake turbulence or wingtip vortices — the FAA has ordered a five-mile spacing at all times between the giant jets and aircraft weighing less than 300,000 pounds.

There have been no cases reported of planes crashing after flying into the turbulence generated by the jumbo jets.

However, records compiled by the National Transportation Safety Board from 1964 through 1969 reveal 98 cases where wake turbulence generated by smaller jetliners was a cause or contributing factor in crashes of light aircraft.

These crashes caused 20 deaths and 54 serious injuries.

Wingtip vortices have been a recognized phenomenon for years. All planes cause them to some degree. But, said Richard Sliff, deputy director of the FAA's flight standards service, "We didn't know the extent of the turbulence until we undertook this testing program. We were fully aware of wake turbulence but we didn't know its intensity."

The tests showed that small aircraft which penetrate the wingtip vortices within three miles of the giant aircraft can be forced into a sudden roll of 75 degrees.

"In other words," said the FAA's William M. Flener, director of air traffic service, "what we're saying is that under certain circumstances a light aircraft would break up structurally."

However, the FAA's chief of regulation and procedures, Robert Martin, said he does not believe that a plane flying into a powerful vortex would break up. But he does for see a danger of crashing.

The FAA measures the 747's vortex strength as 7,700 feet squared per second and the C5A's as 7,260 feet squared per second. Agency officials trans-

Ohio Woman Knocked Down By Cow Elk

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Lynda Barnhart, 21, of Holland, Ohio, was knocked down and injured by a cow elk during a visit to Willow Park last week, according to wildlife officials.

Park Supt. Jack Anderson said Mrs. Barnhart approached a cow elk and her brood in an effort to pet them.

The cow elk reportedly charged, knocked her to the ground and trampled her back, causing contusions and fracturing one vertebra.

Park officials said the elk probably reacted to her natural instinct to protect her young when Mrs. Barnhart approached.

Mrs. Barnhart was hospitalized.

Clock Becomes People-Watcher

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new clock recently installed in the Administration Building of Ohio State University does more than just tell the time — it watches, too.

Hidden in the 3, 6, 9 and 12 locations on the clock's face are small cameras, installed because the building's lobby has served in the past as a staging area for protest groups.

The purpose of the cameras in the clock, according to a university official, is to make picture-taking of demonstrators less obvious.

Drive For School Prayer Law Gains Solons' Support

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Cuyahoga Falls woman says she has the support of 222 congressmen to bring out of committee a bill calling for voluntary, non-denominational prayer in public schools.

Mrs. Ben Ruhlin and five other Akron area women, including three college juniors, returned Saturday from a week's stay in Washington and said "there are quite a lot of legislators there who are atheists."

She said the six women were able to find 222 congressmen willing to support a discharge petition to get the bill out of the judiciary committee headed by U.S. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. The bill was introduced in 1968. Some 219 supporters are needed to effect a discharge petition.

Mrs. Ruhlin, a member of Bethany United Church of Christ for 26 years, said U.S. Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, would begin getting support aligned if Celler does not take action by Tuesday.

She said she has received 12,000 signatures on petitions supporting her efforts and of 2,000 letters she has received only two wanted her to end her drive to reinstitute prayer in public schools. School prayers have been dropped since a U.S. Supreme Court ruling in 1963 stated that the reciting of the Lord's Prayer or Bible verses in public schools was unconstitutional.

Mrs. Ruhlin said she became concerned over the issue when her sons told her that if they were not permitted to pray or discuss God in school then God must not be very important.

She said she has the support of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. She said the organizations, with lobbyists in Washington, also have been working on the project.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From
WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — "Foot-dragging" and "do-nothing" charges have been leveled at this 91st Session of Congress when it became evident rather early in its stages that most of the major and urgent legislative reform issues were being stalled unnecessarily in their respective Democratic controlled committees.

Now, however, Democratic party leaders are charging that it is not the Congress but administration which deserves the "do-nothing" label.

Judging from the record, there are absolutely no grounds for this accusation, and I think the facts most plainly speak for themselves.

Three times since his inauguration, President Nixon has appealed to the Congress to at least consider the 50-some proposals on the most important and vital issues confronting us at this time: inflation, social reform, crime, Vietnam, and environmental pollution, for example. After almost two years, fewer than a dozen of them have received full congressional approval.

And, with less than a month left of this congressional session, only eight of them are scheduled for consideration. Certainly, after 21 months, it is rather inconceivable that the reason for this amazingly void record of accomplishment is merely one of pursuing a course of slow and careful investigation to produce the most efficient, effective legislation. It is a clear cut case of deliberate stalling tactics, which in the end do the most damage to the public.

A RESPONSIBLE Congress cannot and should not be expected to rubber stamp every legislative proposal it receives. On the other hand, Congress should be expected to carefully consider all facets of an issue before acting.

The public this body represents should not expect nor does it deserve the boondoggling, pigeonholing actions or rather lack of action it is now receiving. The legislative bottleneck is in the congressional committees. Every committee in the House and Senate in this Congress is chaired and controlled by the Democrats, and on this basis, it is not difficult to see where the blame for this legislative stagnation lies.

BECAUSE of the grave and serious problems facing the nation, I believe it is high time to abandon partisan politics and to begin co-operating on working out the solutions to them for the welfare of this country.

Contrary to his critic's charges, President Nixon has been "doing something" about the solutions to these problems. For example, one of the most extensive, yet unenacted, proposals, concentrating on America's crime problems by attacking organized crime, narcotics, illegal use of explosives and pornography and by proposing certain court reforms and better assistance for law enforcement officials, was submitted by the President, yet it still languishes in the Democrat controlled Congress.

He has proposed, as I have also proposed, an automatic cost-of-living adjustment in Social Security benefits for our senior citizens, most vital in helping them meet their ordinary expenses in these inflationary times. This measure still awaits action in the Senate.

In other economic measures, the President has made a concerted effort to turn the tide of inflation, but he has had little cooperation from Congress which persists in voting through measures above and beyond the budgetary limits. These are bills

Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, author of the proposed Constitutional amendment that would abolish the Electoral College and establish direct popular choice of the U. S. president, claims he represents the "will of the people" in putting forth the bill now under consideration by the Senate.

He quotes Gallup and Harris, the pollsters, as saying that "80 per cent" of the electorate are in his corner.

The question, however, is whether the "80 per cent" have ever had the opportunity to understand the issue. Up to now only a few intellectuals have explored the ramifications of the proposed extension of "one man, one vote" to the problem of presidential selection.

How many people know that the most imposing case for retaining the Electoral College has been made by certified liberals who are for "one man, one vote" in almost every other intance

THEODORE WHITE, the author of "The Making of the President" books, has, for example, weighed in with the argument that if a chief executive is to be chosen by "raw vote" instead of by vote of the Electoral College in accordance with a local "winner-take-all" unit rule inside each state, it would inevitably mean that the venal big city machines of the Northeast would dominate our politics from here on in.

Richard Goodwin, an old Kennedy man, echoes the White Diagnosis and adds his own variation to the analysis: he says that direct election of the president by a 40 per cent popular plurality, as provided for by the Bayh amendment, would saddle the whole U. S. with something analogous to the four-party politics of New York State, where the Liberal Party and the Conservative Party practice a politics of blackmail, offering endorsements and making deals that end by distorting the will of the majority.

ANOTHER liberal who condemns the Bayh proposal is Prof. Alexander Bickel of the Yale Law School, who defends the present method of choosing the president because it incorporates "the federal principle within the presidency itself" by "requiring a sectional distribution of the vote" that makes possible "combinations that ... give advantage to the smaller states."

Relying on the "liberals" of the Northeast for support, the conservative minority on the U. S. Senate Judiciary Committee makes several important if not incontestable points.

Direct popular election of the president would "destroy the party system and encourage the splinter parties; undermine the federal system; alter the delicate balance underlying separation of the powers; radicalize public opinion and endanger minorities; encourage electoral fraud; lead to interminable recounts and challenges; and necessitate national control of every aspect of the electoral process."

Candidates would cease to make appearances in small, underpopulated states such as Nevada, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana; instead, they would conduct "bull's eye" campaigns designed to win in Chicago, New York City, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Boston. There would no longer be any reason for a candidate to present a broadly based platform within each separate state.

TO QUOTE Theodore White, "our presidential campaigns right now are balanced in each party to bring a compromise, to eliminate the extremes of both sides, and create a man who has at least the gift of unifying his party and thereafter the nation. Once you go to the plebiscite form of vote you get the more romantic, the more eloquent and the more extreme politicians, plus their hacks and TV agents polarizing the nation rather than bringing it together. It is that fundamental erosion of the U.S.A. that horrified me ... If states are abolished as voting units, TV becomes absolutely dominant.

"Campaign strategy changes from delicately assembling a winning coalition of states and becomes a media effort to capture the largest share of the 'vote market.' Instead of courting regional party leaders by compromise, candidates will rely on media masters ... the heaviest swat will go to the candidate who raises the most money to buy the best time and most 'creative' TV talent."

If White were to formulate the questions to be put to the public by the Messrs. Gallup and Harris, it is extremely doubtful that "80 per cent" of the voters would be for the Bayh amendment. Bayh's greatest ally in promoting his cure-all plan is the abysmal ignorance of the federal principle established by the Founding Fathers.

Pot Penalties Still Too High

DEAR ABBY: Recently you printed a long list of penalties for being caught with marijuana, and since you made no comment, I assume that you believe these penalties are fair and just.

DISAPPOINTED READER

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You are assuming a lot, my friend. I frequently publish letters without adding my comment. And many letters express views contrary to mine. I simply let others have their say. Why not? I don't assume that because someone disagrees with me, he is wrong and I am right.

I published the legal penalties for being caught with marijuana because many are still unaware of what they have to lose. I also happen to feel that the punishment does not fit the "crime."

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many people say that "pot" is harmless? Our daughter began using it in January. She went on to the mescaline in March, started seeing a psychiatrist in May, and was in a mental hospital in July. She really had no intentions of getting involved with drugs, but her nearest and dearest friend, a girl, I liked and trusted, got her started. Now the mother of this girl says, "You know, I've been reading up on marijuana, and it's really not so bad. It's no worse than tobacco or alcohol."

What can I possibly say to her? And to all the people who are spreading this plague with their permissiveness?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: While the most reliable authorities tell us that marijuana is no more addictive (habit-forming) than tobacco or alcohol, excessive use of pot can be as destructive to some individuals as excessive drinking and smoking is to others. There is no way of knowing who can "handle" such things and who can't. Some people who drink like fishes and smoke like chimneys live to be 90. Others become alcoholics in their twenties and die of lung cancer in their thirties. It's a gamble. And of course the only winners are those who stray out of the game.

DEAR ABBY: Just who says "Pot" is harmless? From personal experience I know it can cause ulcers, insomnia, headache, financial problems, and the desire to commit suicide. Not to all, but to a significant percentage of those who are caught.

I am 22 years old. I threw newspapers all through junior high. I bagged groceries through high school, and left for college with a pat on the back from my proud father. After graduation I taught school for one year and was considered to be an outstanding teacher.

While home on vacation, a friend invited me to a "groovy party." He said there would be pot there, and even though I disapprove of pot, I was too weak in character to say no.

The next thing I knew, a policeman's flashlight was shining in my eyes. I was sitting on a blanket with a bag of pot beside me. Now 10 days later, I have lost everything; my fiancée, my opportunity for Coast Guard O.C. S. (I was to leave in two weeks). After a decade of pulling myself up by my bootstraps, career opportunities are now limited. It saps my desire to live.

My "friend" consoles me by saying that the law is outdated

Your arguments with your wife become fewer and less strident. After all, you concede, there may be a few things she is right about, and anyway it takes less energy to listen to her than to fight back.

It makes your hackles rise to hear anybody under the age of 30 express an opinion in public. What could anybody that young and will be changed "soon," and any society that punishes for such a thing is "sick." This all may be true, but I am the felon and I have to pay the price. Society, be it sick or well, has certain laws which should be obeyed until they are changed.

Now, I ask myself, "What was I doing there?" I am supposed to be a mature and intelligent person. I was absolutely stupid!

If you publish this, Abby, maybe just one person who is tempted to do what I did will read it and remember it. Between the lines can also be read the sorrow I have caused myself and my family.

Yep, you may not think of yourself as middle aged—but your years are showing.

monds to make the hand, and you therefore plan the play with this in mind.

You win the spade return at trick three, cash the A-K-Q of hearts, then take a diamond finesse. If all goes well, you are home.

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Hearts. North leads the ace of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

♠ Q 5
 ♥ K J 10 9 2
 ♦ K 3
 ♣ A Q 7 4

2. It is impossible to go down unless you lose a spade trick (because South has the king) and a trump trick (because one opponent has all three missing trumps). The problem is to make the slam even though both these conditions exist.

Ruff the diamond and lead the three of hearts to the king. If both defenders follow suit, your troubles are over. At worst, you lose a spade trick.

1. The first problem is whether to tackle clubs or diamonds, but it is not really difficult to appreciate the futility of trying to establish the clubs. Thus, if you led a club at trick two, a spade would come back, and when you then led another club, the defenders would cash their spades to automatically put you down one (possibly two).

Once you've decided to lead diamonds first, the next problem is to decide which way to tackle the suit. Strangely enough, the proper approach is not to lead hearts first but to lead a low diamond from your hand at trick two. You do this because you must find South with the K-x or K-x-x of dia-

Now let's assume one defender shows out on the first trump lead. If it's South, that's no problem, since North's queen is trapped. If North shows out, you will lose a trump trick, all right, but you will still make the contract by cashing the king of diamonds and ace of hearts before playing four rounds of clubs. If South ruffs at any point, he will be forced to make a suicidal return, while if he does not ruff, you throw him into the lead with a trump to accomplish the same result.

Note that if you make the mistake of leading the heart ace at trick two, the contract fails if South has the king of spades and nary a heart.

Guide To Good Health

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I AM plague by a post nasal drip. It is astonishing that so much emotional irritability can be caused by this unpleasant condition. What can I do about it?

MR. W. T., North Dakota

DEAR MR. T.: The first thing that you can do about your post nasal drip is to try to track down the cause. This is difficult, though occasionally it can be pinpointed.

Allergies, sinus infections — singly or together — are the most frequent reasons. Excess humidity, air pollution, smog, and exposure to occupational gases can also be responsible. Some foods, especially milk and milk products, seem to increase post nasal discharge. Perhaps this, too, can be classed as an allergy.

Treatment is directed to the basic cause. Antihistamines for allergies, antibiotics and local treatment for sinus infections. Steam, and decongestant drugs may be helpful. All these, of course, should be taken under a doctor's supervision. High, dry climates undoubtedly are more comfortable areas in which to live.

If a spinal anesthesia is so painful, why do some surgeons still use it for a Dand C.

DEAR MRS. M.: D and C is short for a dilatation and curettage. This is an operation for the stretching of the cervix of the womb (dilatation) and the scraping of the inner lining of the uterus (curettage). This operation is performed as a therapeutic abortion or for the diagnosis and treatment of uterine disorders.

Spinal anesthesia need not be painful and therefore is still used by surgeons who believe in its advantages. Anesthesiologists have a wide range of types of anesthesia. When they, in conjunction with the surgeon, chose a particular one, you can be sure it is painless, appropriate and safe for the type of operation to be performed.

Is cupping still used in modern medical practice?

Eight 'Local' Issues On November Ballot

Eight local issues, six of them involving taxes, will be on the Nov. 3 ballots in Fayette County. Samples of the ballots to be used in the election have been received by the Fayette County Board of Elections and approved, according to Mrs. Robert Rodgers, deputy director.

City residents will be voting on a total of 8.1 mills for municipal and school operations. Residents of the county will decide the outcome of three tax issues totaling 6.9 mills. Jeffersonville will have a 2.9 mill. The school levy renewal on the ballot will be making the largest request for additional funds at the general election.

The Washington City School District will be seeking passage of a 3.8 mill operating levy renewal and a 2.3 mill levy for construction of the proposed South Central joint vocational school.

The 3.8 mill levy renewal will become a continuous tax if passed at the election. The proposed 2.3 mill vocational education levy will last only five years. At the end of that time a new levy for operation of the vocational school will be needed.

The Miami Trace School District also will be voting on the proposed vocational school proposal. The school would house vocational students from 10 districts in Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties. It would be constructed near the common boundary of the three counties.

THE OHIO Department of Education earlier this year informed school boards that if their districts failed to plan and approve a program offering vocational education, the state would step in and assign the districts to approved vocational education projects.

A school district assigned to another vocational education project loses the ability both to help plan the proposed school and to determine the tax rate for support. The assigned school district is assessed the tax rate existing in the vocational education district.

A majority vote of the total number of electors in the proposed three-county jointure is required by state law for passage. The issue does not have to be approved in each participating school district for the program to be approved.

A school district that votes against the proposed vocational educational proposal is required to become a part of the jointure if the plan is approved by a majority of the persons in the entire area to be served.

AN OPERATING levy also will be sought by the Miami Trace School District.

Passage of the levy is essential if the school district is to remain open in 1971, according to the Fayette County Board of Education.

The district is seeking passage of a 1.3 mill levy to meet a state requirement for a minimum levy of 17.5 mills and to meet an anticipated deficit of $100,000 next year.

The school district's operating levies were reduced by the Fayette County Budget Commission following property revaluation this year. The tax rate was dropped from 17.7 mills to 17.1 mills.

State law required that the tax rate be dropped in proportion to the increase in revenues due to revaluation.

For the school district to continue receiving State Foundation funds, it must raise its tax rate back to 17.5 mills. The foundation funds constitute about 30 per cent of the school's annual budget.

The proposed levy must be approved and on the county tax books by Jan. 1, 1971, for the district to be eligible to receive the state funds July 1, 1971, for the 1971-72 school year.

If the district fails to meet the state requirement and is forced to close, it could be dissolved and assigned by the Ohio Department of Education to an adjacent school district which meets the state minimum. The Miami Trace School District then would be taxed at the same rate as the school district with which it is merged.

PASSAGE of a 3.3 mill levy for construction of a middle school in the Miami Trace district will be sought again by the Fayette County Board of Education.

The proposed school will cost about $2.5 million.

The proposed bond issue would last 20 years.

In Jeffersonville, the renewal of a 2.9 mill operating levy will be sought.

The levy, which will last five years, will be used to finance general operations of the municipality.

Washington C. H. residents will be asked to renew two one-mill levies.

One of the levies is for financing the maintenance and construction of city streets, and the other is for support of the city fire department.

Both single-mill levies are for five years.

NON-TAX issues will be presented for voters in Perry and Jefferson townships.

Perry Township voters will be asked to decide whether or not intoxicants may be sold by the glass.

In Jefferson Township, voters are being asked to approve zoning of the unincorporated areas of the political subdivision.

The zoning codes and regulations were reviewed and adopted by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners for Fayette County. However the townships must individually approve the implementation of the regulations.

Class Has 21st Reunion

The Queen Esther Class of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church held its 21st class reunion following Sunday School and worship service. A beautiful covered-dish dinner was enjoyed, with guests the Rev. and Mrs. Emory Moyer and sons, Paul and Stephen, and daughter, Ruth and Mrs. Verne Foster, of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Cora Roberts, Mrs. Viola Thornton, Mrs. Zoe Garinger and Mr. William Purcell, all of the Friendship Class.

The following members of the class were present: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hays, of Washington C. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson, of Madison Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rapp, of New Holland; and Mrs. Charley Hughes, Mrs. Laura Wilson, Mrs. W. P. Noble, Mrs. Elton Elliott and Mrs. Garinger.

Mrs. Hughes conducted the business session and communications were read from Mrs. Martin (Mary Ellen Brown) Armstrong, Mrs. Glenna Harrow, Mrs. Elsa Hutson, Mrs. Lena Ross, Mrs. Bina Davis, Mrs. Lola Allen and Mrs. Nora Oswald.

The class members signed get-well cards for Mrs. Aurville Wilt, Mrs. Fred Oswald and Mr. W. P. Noble.

The group voted to discontinue the reunions for a time.

An impressive Memorial Service was conducted by Mrs. Wilson for the late Mr. Hughes, Mrs. Vera Clark McCoy and Mrs. Mabel Lafollette Webb.

At the close of the meeting the group went to the Bloomingburg Cemetery where a brief service was held in memory of Mrs. Linnie Minnix and Mrs. Minnie Brown, two former class teachers. Pots of mums were placed on the two graves.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Staibus, of York, Pa., have returned home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Stephen M. Hall, Rt. 41-S.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Dewey, 427 E. Market St., have returned from a two and one-half week tour of Montreal and Ottawa, Quebec, New Brunswick, Cape Breton Island and Nova Scotia.

Miss Nancy Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell, Bush Rd., will leave Wednesday for Ohio State University, where she is a sophomore. She will serve as orientation adviser for incoming freshman. She also is associated with the Taylor Towers north campus student association.

Miss Wolford Is Bride Of Mr. Joseph Del Greco

Miss Kathy Wolford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wolford, 712 Carolyn Rd., and Mr. Joseph Del Greco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Del Greco, of Westerville, exchanged marriage vows Saturday in St. Colman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly performed the double-ring ceremony at 2 p.m. before an altar graced with vases of rose and pink gladioli, white daisies and baby's breath. The pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery.

Mrs. J. Rankin Paul, organist, and Mrs. Robert Heiny, vocalist, presented a selection of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Angelo original gown of white silk organza, with fitted blouse of imported lace, jeweled neckline, mutton leg sleeves and A-line skirt with lace appliques. The detachable train was caught at the waist with a Dior bow. Her elbow-length veil fell from a large beaded Dior bow. She carried a semi-crescent of pink daisies, white miniature carnations, baby's breath and emerald foliage with white satin showers.

Mrs. Dan Wolford, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal A-line gown of rose crepe with long chiffon sleeves and a short veil held by a matching bow. The bridesmaids, the Misses Linda Mallow, Nina Chattin, Connie Schorr and Marsha Frazier, wore identical gowns of candy pink crepe, fashioned into an empire blouse with an A-line skirt and short chiffon bell sleeves. They wore short veils with matching bows and all carried colonial bouquets of elegance pink miniature carnations, baby's breath and pink satin showers.

Patty Del Greco, sister of the groom and flower girl, wore a gown identical to those of the bridesmaids. She carried a lace basket of elegance pink miniature carnations, baby's breath and pink satin bows.

Mike Del Greco served as best man for his brother. Seating the wedding guests were Tom and Mickey Del Greco, also brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Wolford chose a chocolate brown crepe dress with a champagne lace coat with which she combined chocolate accessories. Mrs. Del Greco wore a French blue double knit suit, with white accessories. Both mothers wore pink sweetheart rose corsages.

The grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Frances LeHew and Mrs. James Wolford, and Mrs. Patsy Del Greco, the groom's grandmother, wore white miniature carnation corsages.

Hostesses for the reception in the Benton Room of the Washington Inn following the wedding were Mrs. Charles Chattin and Mrs. Denver Ball, Mrs. Kirby Spradling and Mrs. Herbert Spradling, aunts of the bride, of Ashland, Ky., and Mrs. Charley Hall, of Grayson, Ky., a great aunt of the bride. Miss Mary Del Greco, sister of the groom, was junior hostess. Miss Judy Del Greco, another sister, presided at the guest book.

The wedding cake was encircled with leather leaf, pink daisies and miniature carnations.

When the couple left for a trip to the Smoky Mountains, the bride was wearing a brown double knit frock with brown accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will live at 513 W. Town St., Columbus.

The new Mrs. Del Greco, a graduate of Washington High School and the Noni Modeling School, is employed by the United Equipment Co., Columbus as a secretary. Her husband, a graduate of Westerville High School and Columbus Technical School is employed at Ross Laboratory in Columbus.

Bicycle Tour Planned By Sorority

A bicycle tour Oct. 6 and a party for their husbands Oct. 19 are planned by Alpha Theta chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Mrs. Charles Wallace, educational chairman, announced the dates and reminded the members to meet at the home of Mrs. Jerry Sheppard at 7 p.m. for the bicycle tour. Details of the party for the husbands are now being worked out by the committees.

Plans for both were discussed at the meeting in the home of Mrs. Glenn Smith when Mrs. Jack Merriman reported on formation of a pledge chapter, which will bring to three the total in the community. A get-together is planned for later this month.

A note from Mrs. John Campbell, who moved recently to Dayton, was read. She said she will become a member-at-large of the sorority.

Mrs. John Gall, philanthropic chairman, spoke of the style show and luncheon held Saturday. Members were urged to send letters concerning the release of prisoners of war in Southeast Asia.

A report was made by Mrs. Cox on the Council meeting held in Holiday Inn, Columbus, sponsored by the Gamma Phi chapter. Attending were Mrs. Tom Vrettos, Mrs. Jerry Johnson, Mrs. Ratliff and Mrs. Cox.

Following the business meeting, members discussed various phrases of the state convention to be held at Scioto Inn, Springfield, Oct. 23-25. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Don Gibbs and Mrs. Smith.

Present were Mrs. Gall, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Clyde Cramer, Mrs. Ron Hoxsie, Mrs. Ray Loudner, Mrs. Merriman, Mrs. John Morris, Mrs. Tom Rankin, Mrs. Ratliff, Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. John Skinner, Mrs. Vrettos and Mrs. Wallace.

Church Plans 'Taster's Tea'

The Staunton Church is sponsoring a "Taster's Tea and Harvest Festival" at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parrett Rt. 35-S, from 2 to 8 p.m. Oct. 2 and 3.

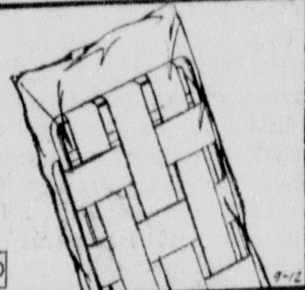

Salads, cakes, pies, breads, etc., will be featured for the Taster's Tea. All will be baked by members of the church. Pumpkin pie, cranberry bread, pumpkin bread, date loaf, tortes and cakes made of apples, or foods pertaining to October and November will be featured at the Festival.

Jams, jellies, salad dressings and pickles will be sold from a bazaar table. Sewing articles and ceramics made by members, pottery made by Mrs. Maxine Foster, of Lynchburg, and floral arrangements made by the Roush sisters, will also be part of the exhibit. Mrs. Lois

Harper will have on display various candles and candle holders. Decoupage and mododge articles will also be on display and for sale.

Tickets will be available at the door for $1.

Unresponsive Companies Rouse Consumers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — "The responsiveness of a firm to the consumer is directly proportionate to the distance on the organizational chart from the consumer to the chairman of the board."

Whether that statement is true can be argued. But that millions of Americans believe it to be true can hardly be disputed.

ed, and among their number is Virginia Knauer. She made the statement in a speech.

Mrs. Knauer is the President's assistant for consumer affairs, and so it is rather surprising to hear her speak out so unequivocally on the issue of corporate bigness, an issue that touches every single American. Bigness, after all, has never been officially regarded as either bad or good. No legislation has been passed limiting a company to a certain size; its profits, yes, as in the case of utilities, but not its size.

Perhaps the nearest we as a nation have come to declaring bigness is badness is in a relative sense; if a company monopolistically dominates its industry, for example, then we might declare it to be too big.

But, as a lot of consumers have learned in recent years, a company need not be a monopoly to abuse its customers, to ignore their complaints, to refuse them service, to threaten their credit ratings.

Much of this treatment, it is argued, is really not intended. It is the system, it is said, the impersonality of the seller-buyer relationship. It is the mechanisms that have failed, companies say, not the intentions.

This may be so, but regardless, it is the substance out of which much of the consumer movement has emerged. In many instances, the mechanism does not recognize that it is dealing with real, flesh and blood, thinking, feeling, suffering human beings.

And so a customer is misled. He writes to the store asking that the error be rectified. He receives no response until the next month's bill, and there again is the error. And now he is charged a month's interest also.

Again he writes and receives no answer. He telephones, but gets a busy signal. Finally, he gets a clear line and he waits and waits in frustration, counting 25 rings before hanging up. Comes another month and another bill, and with it a reminder that payment is now overdue.

The reminder is signed—fortunately, the customer thinks, because now he can at least communicate with an individual. And so he writes "R. Peterson," for example, not knowing that the name is as fictitious as Betty Crocker.

The escalation continues until the customer receives a threat to his credit rating, which is a threat to his good name. In turn, he threatens suit, and perhaps if he is lucky he finally gets the matter settled.

But at what cost to him? To the store? To business in general? To the country? And who pays for all the waste involved?

Many companies recognize the problem as critical and have taken corrective steps, demonstrating that the situation need not be a permanent one. Others, unfortunately, remain utterly unresponsive both to customers and to the changing business environment.

Mrs. Knauer knows this to be true, of course, because her mail is filled with the evidence every day.

Is bigness bad? Maybe not, but unresponsiveness is.

Warmer Air Comes Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After a premature cold spell earlier this month, unseasonably warm weather moved back into the nation's midsection today and showers fell over much of the Plains states.

Nearly three inches of rain fell on Fargo, N.D., and severe thunderstorm watches were in effect during the night for portions of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Scattered showers were reported across the northern and central Plains and into the upper Mississippi Valley. Rain also fell in Oregon, Idaho, eastern Texas and southern Arkansas.

Morning temperatures ranged in the 80s in the southern portions of the nation and dipped into the 60s in the Northeast and the Great Lakes area.

At Grand Island, Neb., the mercury jumped to 70 during the night for the community's highest minimum temperature in history for this time of year. The previous record of 66 was reached in 1921 and 1959.

Until the coming of the Industrial Revolution, forests were protected as game preserves.

The Louisiana Tigers were a famous Civil War Regiment that fought heroically from first Manassas on.

Disorder Hits Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two men have been arrested in connection with a series of racial incidents early Sunday which have left one man seriously shot and four others hurt.

Police said that only a few people were involved in the trouble which erupted in the Over-the-Rhine section. Shots were fired; bottles, brick and stones were thrown; and a bayonet was wielded.

James Isabel, 37, of Cincinnati was charged with discharging firearms and reckless driving. The other man taken into custody has not been charged. Both are Negroes.

Robert Watkins, 42, of Cincinnati was shot twice from a passing car, and was listed in serious condition at General Hospital. Another man who was wounded has been treated and released.

Lt. Charles Denham of the Cincinnati Police Department said that the trouble started when a white man struck a Negro in the face with a bottle.

'Individual' Dorms Open At Ohio U.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — At least 1,200 of Ohio University's 18,500 students will enjoy the luxury of "individualized" living when the school opens for the fall term on Wednesday.

Ten new residence halls, the first of many planned for a $17.9 million non-traditional dormitory complex on the South Green, will accommodate the students.

Individuality and intimacy have been built into the 10, four-to-six-story buildings with a full 84 per cent of the rooms designed for single occupancy. The remaining rooms, all doubles, have been grouped into suites with from 12 to 18 students sharing two lounges, and bathroom situated to serve no more than six students.

The residence halls are the smallest of the campus' 45 dormitories. Each hall will have a maximum student population of 144.

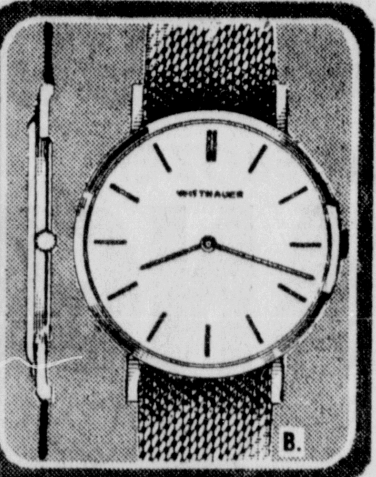

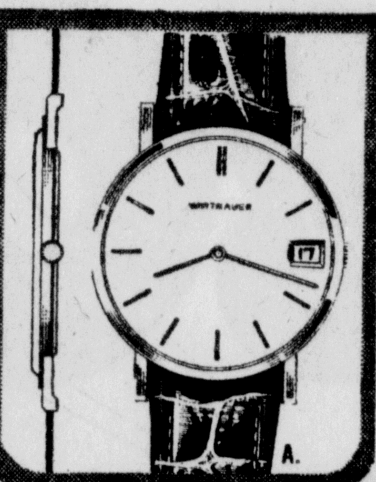

All halls in the new complex are being grouped around a landscaped common and will be joined by an elevated walkway leading to a cafeteria, two private dining rooms and a large snack bar.

School officials said room charges for the individualized residence halls will be 5 to 12 per cent higher than for conventional accommodations.

Board rates are to remain the same.

Another five halls in the new complex are expected to be completed before the end of the school year, officials said.

The Great Wall of China was completed during the reign of Ch'in Shih Huang and was kept in repair up to the 16th century.

Ohio Highways Claim 17 Lives During Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's highways claimed 17 lives the final weekend of the summer—down from the 24 who died the previous weekend and about average for the year.

The dead included three pedestrians and three motorists. More than half of those killed were 20 or younger.

The weekend death count, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Sunday, included two double-fatality accidents Friday night. All the other accidents claimed one life each.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

CLEVELAND — Kenneth E. Konstra, 19, and Karen Marsnick, 18, both of Seven Hills, when their car slammed into a tree in suburban North Royalton.

EAST LIVERPOOL—John A. Tenze, 20, and Keith R. Shivers, 19, when their car slammed into a guard rail on U.S. 30 west of East Liverpool.

SATURDAY

COLUMBUS — Rodney Litteral, 24, of suburban Worthington, in a one-car accident on Columbus' east side.

TIPP CITY—Terry Watts, 18, Adrian, Mich., struck by a car along Ohio 571 three miles east of Tipp City in Miami County.

CLEVELAND—John Copen, 3, of suburban Brookpark, struck by a car in front of his home.

HAMILTON—Betty Jones, 22, Dayton, when the car in which she was riding rolled off a Butler County road five miles north-east of here.

NORWALK—Steve R. Miller, 25, Vermilion, when his car ran off the U.S. 20 bypass near here.

WELLSVILLE — James H. Potts, 31, East Liverpool, whose motorcycle hit a pole along Ohio 45 in Columbiana County.

SUNDAY

COLUMBUS—Clyde R. Ingraham, 39, Columbus, when his car hit a pole on East Fifth Avenue here.

Gilligan Raps Ferguson Act

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Democrat John J. Gilligan, candidate for governor, said over the weekend that Ohio's Ferguson Act prohibiting strikes by public employees was both "outdated and universally discredited."

Gilligan told a Council 8, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees convention here that a labor relations crisis was upon the public sector in Ohio. The crisis has "manifested itself in 150 work stoppages by public employees in the last 18 months," he said.

He proposed a "positive program that will give employers and employees the chance to deal honestly and constructively with their differences."

Gilligan blamed the labor crisis on a "Republican administration's repeated refusal to establish intelligent systems of collective bargaining for public agencies and public employees."

He said the answer lay in extending to public workers "the rights workers in the private sector had earned two generations ago."

riding hit a pole on Ohio 241 Saturday near North Canton.

BOWLING GREEN — James Reed, 20, Bowling Green, hit by a car on old Ohio 6 east of Bowling Green.

COLUMBUS—John McClintick, 47, Columbus, when his car crashed on I-71 at Eleventh Avenue in Columbus.

Tiffin—Carol A. Smith, 16, of Rt. 3, Tiffin, when her car left a township road near Fort Seneca and hit a tree.

YOUNGSTOWN — James A. Blackford, 39, of Youngstown, when he lost control of his motorcycle and hit a telephone pole at a Youngstown intersection.

EAST LIVERPOOL — Calvin Rowley, 43, of East Liverpool, when his motorcycle crashed into a train.

City School Board To Consider Budget

The Washington C. H. Board of Education will meet tonight to consider a revised budget for 1970, study a proposed bus schedule for the district and to consider several personnel recommendations made by Superintendent Marshall D. Boggs.

Also to be considered are several reports, including one on dress codes and morals of students. Other items are athletic teams transportation costs; costs of painting Gardner Park Stadium; a new bill governing employee sick leave and drive education costs.

The board will consider an evening driver education course for the 1970-71 school year. If approved, it would be held between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. daily. This arrangement, Supt. Boggs said, would provide immediate training and would lessen the load for teachers next summer.

The revised budget recommended by Boggs calls for an outlay of $1,497,600, the same as total anticipated receipts. The revision was necessary because of an adjustment in anticipated receipts and to balance all accounts in order to install a new business machine in the district office, Boggs said.

U.S. Sees Chilean Election As Start Of Commie Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials view the Chilean election of Marxist Salvador Allende as marking the possible start of a large Latin American Communist bloc of nations.

In addition to Chile, officials mentioned Peru, Argentina and Bolivia as candidates for Communist domination.

An assessment of Allende's impact on Latin affairs came from a high American official who briefed Midwestern publishers, editors and broadcasters in Chicago. The White House organized background was presented Wednesday, but ground rules prevented release of what was said until the weekend.

Although President Nixon was involved in some briefings, he was not on hand for the Allende analysis.

Allende failed to get a clear popular-vote majority in the Chilean election, but his election by the Chilean Congress, with whom the decision rests, was expected by the American official.

Over a period of years, Allende will probably establish a Communist government of some sort thereby bringing Communism across the hemisphere from isolated Cuba to a major inland nation.

The Inter-American Press Association said over the weekend that Communist pressures are already being felt in Chile.

The IAPA said in a report that newspapers and radio stations are being sold in the wake of threats of violence. Newsmen have resigned and anti-Marxist reporters have been dismissed, IAPA said.

The American view of South America in years to come is that Chile might be joined by already deeply divided Argentina; by Peru, described as heading

Newspaper Backs Gilligan

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — John J. Gilligan, Democratic candidate for governor, received the endorsement Sunday of the Dayton Daily News.

The paper, which characterizes itself as politically independent, said in the endorsement editorial that "Ohioans had for years suffered the puffy logic about the 'Wonderful World' of the state, while the truth is it is becoming a sloshy backwater in which the penal, mental health and school systems are visibly rotting . . ."

The editorial called Gilligan "an economizer" and said he had the "knowledge, ability and will to get Ohio on the move again."

Viet War Differences Are Aired

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Differences of opinion on the Vietnam War was one of the highlights of a debate Saturday between Ohio's four Senatorial candidates.

The debate was taped at television station WKBN and is to be shown Tuesday night. Four other debates between the candidates are scheduled around the state.

Republican Robert Taft Jr. upheld the Nixon Administration's policies in Vietnam, saying that President Nixon is fulfilling his promise of orderly Vietnamization of the war.

Democrat Howard M. Metzbaum said a deadline should be set after which the Vietnamese would "fight their own wars." He added that "American troops should be withdrawn as quickly as possible without jeopardy."

John O'Neill, Socialist Labor party candidate, said that the United States' economy is based on war. "I'll bet if all troops are taken out of Vietnam, there will have to be another war for the United States to come out of an economic slump," he said.

American Independent Party candidate Richard B. Kay said the United States got into the war by "a slippery rock foreign policy," one step leading to another. He said military decisions should be made by military people and that the United States can suffer a political defeat but "we can't have a military defeat."

Viet Replacements Find War Still Going On

By WILLIS JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
CAMP EVANS, Vietnam (AP) — When the big Boeing arrives at Da Nang air base it is called the Prison Bird. When it leaves it's dubbed the Freedom Bird.

The United States is steadily reducing its force in Vietnam, but the GIs still arrive to replace men whose tours of duty have expired. The home bound men leave on the same plane that brings in recruits. More leave than arrive, but it's still a war.

What do they think about when they first step onto Vietnamese soil?

Pfc. Jose Paddila, an 18-year-old plumber's helper from the Bronx, N.Y., recalled a bit later: "I was thinking about New York. I was thinking how the last day was the saddest day, about that plane taking off, thinking I might never come back."

"If they gonna pull everybody out, why they keep sending so many guys like us over?" wondered Pfc. Elmer Powell, a farm hand. He is 19 but has a wife and two kids back home in Luxora, Ark.

"You get drafted and you can't do anything about it," said Pfc. Thomas Sowa, also 19, of Niagara Falls, N.Y. He had been a utility laborer in a carbon processing plant and he wanted to study to be an electrician.

The Army sent Paddila, Powell and Sowa to this 101st Airborne Division camp in the coastal lowlands in the northern region of South Vietnam.

First there was a week of indoctrination. "We want to give them a chance to start mentally thinking they are in Vietnam," the training commandant explained.

Then they were assigned to the 3rd Battalion, 187th Infantry, 3rd Brigade of the 101st, which has headquarters here.

All three were infantrymen, also known as grunts. None of them ever had taken part in a demonstration, and they had not thought much about the war they would have to fight.

"It looks like all this could have been avoided," Powell said one day as he walked through scrub country on a training exercise.

He came across a dud mortar round and gave it a wide berth.

"The only thing I ever thought about the war was that I thought they could have got along without me."

On the farm they grew cotton, beans and wheat. Powell made about $90 a week. He and his wife Sadie were tenants.

"We got a TV and a telephone, and two cars, and sometimes we got nothing to do, you can just lay around," Powell remembered. "I'm intending to get back," he said. It was a promise to himself.

"I'm sure gonna be doing my best to get back home, I'll try to get a good job. Go to St. Louis, maybe get a job making box cars. My uncle, he works there. Sowa and Paddila were stoic in the beginning. They didn't want to be here, but as they see it, this was a fight against communism.

"If they take over Vietnam, what do you think will be the next place they take over?" said Paddila, who lived in Puerto Rico before moving with his family to New York nine years ago.

"If they see we're afraid to come here, they'll all join together against one place — the United States."

"If the Communists do take over South Vietnam, I wouldn't think much of it, but I guess Uncle Sam would," said Sowa, who

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul Brown would like more time to relive the first weekend of pro football's second half-century. Phil Bengtson would prefer to forget it.

Brown's Cincinnati Bengals struck down the Oakland Raiders 31-21 while the Detroit Lions mauled Bengtson's Green Bay Packers 40-0 Sunday as the National Football League's 51st season exploded in startling fashion.

Jess Phillips bolted 76 yards on a third-period draw play for the deciding touchdown as the Bengals duplicated a 1969 upset that handed the Raiders their only regular-season setback.

Brown's elation, however, was tempered when he looked ahead to the Bengals' next obstacle. "Next week we play Detroit," he remembered. "I'm sorry I said that. I wanted to enjoy this one longer."

The Lions pinned Green Bay with its first shutout in 12 years, Mel Farr scoring twice and Earl Mann booting four field goals to lead the attack while a ferocious defensive unit shackled Bart Starr.

In Sunday's other openers, Minnesota whipped Kansas City 27-10 to gain some measure of revenge for its Super Bowl loss to the Chiefs; Baltimore nipped San Diego 16-14; Houston downed Pittsburgh 19-7; Dallas overcame Philadelphia 17-7; San Francisco upended Washington 26-17; Boston topped Miami 27-14; Atlanta trimmed New Orleans 14-3 and Denver thumped Buffalo 25-10.

Los Angeles rattled St. Louis 34-13 in Friday night's curtain-raiser and Chicago beat the New York Giants 24-16 in a Saturday night game.

The New York Jets visit Cleveland in a nationally televised tussle tonight to complete the first-week card.

Cincinnati and Oakland were locked in a 21-21 standoff when Brown ordered the draw play in a third down-and-28 bind with 2½ minutes remaining in the third period.

"We all sorta flinched when the play came in," Phillips conceded.

But the powerful speedster broke the draw for the go-ahead score and Horst Muhlmann's 38-yard field goal capped the shocker. Sam Wyche, directing the Bengals' offense with Greg Cook sidelined for the year, hit Essex Johnson with a 51-yard touchdown pass and scored himself on a five-yard keeper.

The Lions capitalized on every Green Bay error, limited the Packers to five first downs and never let them closer than the 30-yard line in what Coach Joe Schmidt termed "the best game we have played in the four years since I've had the ball club."

The Vikings also took advantage of mistakes, in a reversal of their 23-7 Super Bowl collapse last January, to build a 17-7 halftime lead and then pulled away from the Chiefs in the closing minutes of the game.

Jim Marshall scooped up a Kansas City fumble, lumbered downfield and then lateraled to Roy Winston to complete a 38-yard scoring play and Paul Krause returned an interception 40 yards to set up another score.

USC, Nebraska Battle To Tie

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California and Nebraska didn't settle very much with their 21-21 tie in Los Angeles Saturday night. . . except that a tie is better than losing and that both teams are among the nation's football elite.

So, for that matter, is Texas. . . as if anyone except Coach Darrell Royal ever doubted it. The Longhorns, national champions a year ago but running second this season to Ohio State, which hasn't played yet, opened with a 56-15 rout of California.

The rest of The Associated Press' Top Ten — Southern Cal is third, Nebraska ninth — came through unscathed. Stanford, rated fourth, walloped San Jose State 34-3 and fifth-ranked Mississippi crushed Memphis State 47-13 behind, respectively, Heisman Trophy candidates Jim Plunkett and Archie Manning.

Notre Dame, No. 6, rolled over Northwestern 35-14. No. 7 Penn State crushed Navy 55-7; eighth-ranked Michigan held off stubborn Arizona 20-9 and Missouri, No. 10, rallied to down Minnesota 34-12.

Three members of the Second Ten tasted defeat, though. Louisiana State, ranked 12th, fell to Texas A&M 20-18 when Lex James and Hugh McElroy combined on a 73-yard bomb with 13 seconds left. No. 13 proved unlucky for Kansas State, which lost to Kentucky 16-3. And Tulane knocked off No. 19 Georgia 17-14.

But Arkansas, No. 11, beat Oklahoma State 23-7. No. 14 Florida shelled Mississippi State 34-13; No. 15 Houston trounced Syracuse 42-15; UCLA, No. 16, rallied to beat Pitt 24-15; No. 17 West Virginia bombed Richmond 49-10; No. 18 Oklahoma got by Wisconsin 21-7 and Arizona State, ranked 20th, turned back Colorado State 38-9.

Southern Cal came from behind three times to deadlock Nebraska. The last rally came when Clarence Davis ran nine yards with 8:16 left, capping an 80-yard march. Joe Orduña's 67-yard run in the third period had put the Cornhuskers ahead again.

The Trojans almost pulled it out but a desperation 50-yard heave from Jimmy Jones to Sam Dickerson on the final play fell incomplete.

The Texas Longhorns proved they know how to please. Royal wasn't overly confident earlier in the week, but he called it "our sharpest opening game."

Ohio College Grid Teams Break Even In 2nd Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second week of 1970 gridiron wars for Ohio's college football teams was a break-even affair, with 12 teams winning and 12 losing, mostly in non-conference action.

Leading the list of victors Saturday was Toledo University with a 27-6 conquest of Buffalo.

It was the 13th consecutive win for the Rockets spanning a two-year period, and the second of the season.

The key to Toledo's attack, once again, was scrambling junior quarterback Chuck Ealey who threw scoring tosses of 10, 5, and 7 yards. Kicker Tom Duncan accounted for the rest of the team points with field goals of 35 and 32 yards and three extra point conversions.

Little Defiance College kept its winning streak intact, too, with a 49-6 drubbing of Adrian, Mich., College.

The game was Defiance's from the very beginning as the Yellowjackets jumped to an early, first quarter lead of 21-0, then spent the rest of the afternoon grinding out 368 yards in total offense, most of it gained on the ground.

Defiance now sports a 2-0 record for the year and consecutive victories in the last 15 outings.

Mid-American Conference teams Ohio University and Kent State opened the season against one another in afternoon conference action, with the OU Bobcats coming out on top 24-14.

Quarterback Steve Skiver passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third in the winning effort.

But, the records were left for OU sophomore running back Bill Gary.

Gary, in his first collegiate start, carried the ball 43 times, a new school record, for 158 of the team's 227 yards gained.

Another MAC entry, Bowling Green State University, struggled to a 14-12 lead over host Utah State going into the final period, but gave up three late touchdowns to lose 33-14.

The MAC's Miami Redskins did better in a non-conference tilt with Xavier, beating the Musketeers 28-7 in the first game of a doubleheader at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium.

It was Miami's first game and first win. Xavier is now 0-2. In the second game, Cincinnati missed on all of its 14 passing attempts, but still managed a 13-7 margin over Dayton. Both teams are 1-1 for the season so far.

ever" after his impressive running backs galloped for 443 yards.

Leading the way was quarterback Eddie Phillips, who ran the Wishbone-T to perfection, gaining 129 yards on nine carries and scoring twice. Fullback Steve Worster added three touchdowns.

Plunkett shattered Gary Beban's Pacific-8 career total offense mark—he has 5,584 yards—by completing 17 of 29 passes for 302 yards as the Indians coasted past San Jose. Manning ran for two touchdowns and passed 30 yards to Floyd Franks for another to spark Ole Miss over Memphis State.

Notre Dame, led by Denny Alon's 86 yards and three TDs, ripped off 330 yards on the ground in routing Northwestern and Penn State piled up 326 yards by land and Mike Cooper threw two scoring passes to Greg Edmonds as the Nitnity Lions demolished Navy.

Michigan struggled against Arizona and didn't wrap it up until Dana Coin kicked a field goal and Lance Scheffler scored a touchdown in the final four minutes.

Missouri's Tigers, rattled by Minnesota for two periods, weren't fazed by a telephone bomb threat. With Joe Moore leading the way with three touchdowns, they came from a 9-0 halftime deficit to whip the Golden Gophers.

The public address announcer told the crowd in the second period of the bomb threat but few among the capacity crowd of 58,000 in Missouri's Memorial Stadium left.

Arkansas' Bill Burnett set a Southwest Conference career record with his 39th and 40th touchdowns in the victory over Oklahoma State. Southern Methodist's legendary Doak Walker had 38.

LSU blew a 12-0 lead but had gone ahead of Texas A&M on a pair of Mark Lumpkin field goals minutes before the Aggies unleashed their own bomb threat. The desperation pass worked when an LSU defender, for some reason, went for the ball.

Kentucky, which upset Mississippi last year, gave it to Kansas State this time on the strength of a rugged defense led by Dave Hardt, tackle Dave Roller and linebacker Wilbur Hackett.

John Reeves fired two touchdowns and Tommy Durrance for two as Florida topped Mississippi State and Houston had three classy quarterbacks throw scoring passes of 99, five, 54 and 60 yards—the last two to Elmo Wright—against Syracuse.

The matches, which are sponsored by the National Rifle Association and conducted by the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy and the Department of Public Safety, are being held in Jackson for the second straight year.

Tommy Gaines of the U.S. Border Patrol, El Centro, Calif., is the defending individual champion and the U.S. Border Patrol is the defending team champion.

The matches, which are sponsored by the National Rifle Association and conducted by the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy and the Department of Public Safety, are being held in Jackson for the second straight year.

It was Miami's first game and first win. Xavier is now 0-2. In the second game, Cincinnati missed on all of its 14 passing attempts, but still managed a 13-7 margin over Dayton. Both teams are 1-1 for the season so far.

Questions And Answers On Vo-Ed School Issue

EDITOR'S NOTE: The campaign for passage of a 2.3 mill tax levy for construction and operation of a 10-district South Central Joint Vocational School gets underway this week. Here are answers to some of the questions asked by voters. The answers were prepared by the South Central Board of Education on which both the Washington C. H. and Miami Trace school districts are represented.

What is a vocational school?
The vocational school is a specialized educational center where youths and adults are trained in occupational skills for gainful employment.

What is the south central joint vocational school?
Ten school districts in Clinton, Fayette, and Highland Counties have combined tax valuations and high school enrollments to form one vocational school district. The ten participating districts are:

Blanchester Local School District; Clinton Massie Local School District; East Clinton Local School District; Fairfield Local School District; Greenfield Exempted Village District; Hillsboro City School District; Lynchburg - Clay Local School District; Miami Trace Local School District; Washington City School District; Wilmington City School District.

What are the courses to be offered?
The programs approved by the board are:
Food service, agricultural

Sometimes we get the feeling we're being followed.

Everybody's getting into the act. Everybody's making a small car. And since we've made more of them than anyone else, we thought we'd pass along some things we've learned about the business over the years:

First off, there's no doubt about it, the only way to make an economy car is expensively.

So Rule No. 1, don't scribble.

Get yourself the best engineers in the business and then hire 9,000 or so top inspectors to keep them on their toes.

Next, try to develop an engine that's not a gas-guzzler. If you can get it to run on pints of oil instead of quarts, great. If you can get it to run on air instead of water, fantastic.

Work on things to make your car last longer. Like giving it 45 pounds of paint to protect its top and a steel bottom to protect its bottom.

Important: Make sure you can service any year car you make. There's nothing worse than having someone find out that a part they need to make their car go is no longer available.

Finally, spend less time worrying about what your car looks like and more time worrying about how it works.

Perfecting a good economy car is a very time-consuming business. So far it has consumed 25 years of our time.

equipment and mechanics, Agribusiness and services, business machines, data processing, high skilled stenography, Cooperative Office Experience;

Air conditioning and heating, automobile repair, automotive mechanics, carpentry, cosmetology, electronics, radio, TV; electrical and small appliance repair, machinist;

Mechanical drafting, occupational work experience, practical nursing, printing, plumbing, distributive education.

Will adult education be a part of the vocational school?

Yes, one very important contribution that vocational schools make to the communities served is the opportunity for adults to use the school facilities in the late afternoon or evening hours for training or retraining.

What will be the relationship between the South Central Joint Vocational School and the ten local school districts?

1. The student is still enrolled in his home school and the home school will receive the state monies for his membership.

2. The student will attend the vocational school all day, and then return to his own school for his extra-curricular activities and athletics.

3. The student will graduate from his own school.

4. Student enrollment will be based on: a. student interest; b. student ability, testing, and past performance; c. close working relationship with parents and students.

What will be the anticipated enrollment at the Joint Vocational School?

Approximately 25 per cent of the junior and senior enrollment in the participating schools.

Who will attend the South Central Joint Vocational School?

Any student 16 years of age who has the desire and can profit by vocational training will be admitted. No student will be kept out if he desires to participate in the program.

Where will the school be located?

Near the geographical center of the district.

What will be the cost of the vocational school?

The new school will be funded by a 2.3 mill levy which will run for five years. This one levy will provide the necessary money to buy the site, erect the building, equip the building and operate the school for the five year period. At the end of the five-year period the original levy will expire and a new levy for operation of the school will be voted.

A new law makes it possible to build and operate with just one levy. This type of financing will save more than one million dollars in interest — 20-year bonds will not be sold — the building costs will be paid off in five years.

The yield on the 2.3 mills voted under 3311.21, Ohio Revised Code, will be appropriated as shown in the following table.

Why these three counties, Clinton, Fayette and Highland, in a joint vocational school district?

State vocational standards require that no school district or combination of district shall

Your Income Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I don't have the money to pay all that I owe on my third quarter estimated tax. Can I pay part now and the rest next time?

(A) You may have to pay a penalty based on a 6 per cent annual rate if your payments are not made in full when they are due. To avoid the penalty, your estimated tax installments must be paid on time and should amount to at least 80 per cent of your income tax when your return for year is filed.

Farmers and fishermen can avoid this penalty if their payments equal 66 2/3 per cent of their total tax liability.

(Q) I used an employment agency to get my job. Are the fees I paid deductible?

(A) — Yes, if you itemize expenses this will be deductible. If a job was not secured, the fees are nondeductible.

(Q) I work part-time as a maid. How can I tell if Social Security is being paid for me?

(A) Ask your employer whether these taxes are being paid for you. Employers are required to file a return and pay social security taxes for household employees when cash wages of $50 or more are paid to an employee during any calendar quarter.

Employers are also required to provide employees with an annual statement of wages paid and social security taxes withheld.

A full statement of your Social Security coverage may be obtained by writing the Social Security Administration, Baltimore, Md. 21235. Give your name, address and Social Security number when you write.

(Q) My son has earned almost $600 this year. If he makes any more will I lose his exemption?

(A) If your son is either under 19 at the end of the year or a full-time student for at least five months during the year, the amount of his earnings will not affect his status as your dependent.

The other dependency tests, support for instance, must continue to be met.

(Q) I took a loss when I sold some stock I inherited. Can I deduct this on my return?

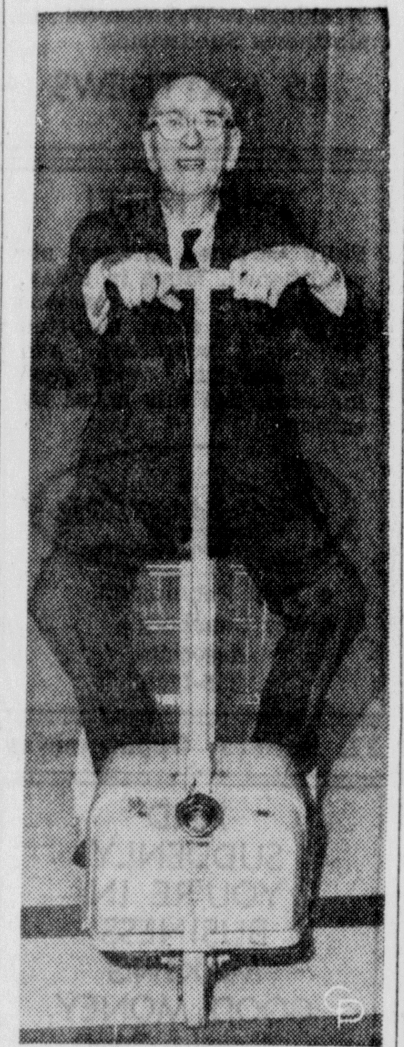

(A) If you sold the stock for less than its fair market value on the date of the decedent's death then you are entitled to either a short or long term capital loss depending on how long you owned the stock beginning with the date of death.

Anything over six months would be a long term loss.

(Q) The bank where my daughter opened up a savings account wants her social security number. Where can she get one?

(A) You daughter may apply for a social security number by filling out Form SS-5 which may be obtained from your local Social Security or IRS office.

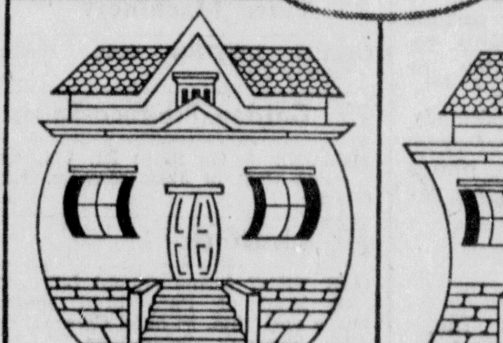

Banks and other financial institutions are required by law to report certain dividend and interest payments by the identifying number of the recipient.

be considered for the allocation of construction, remodeling and equipment from state or federal sources unless such a district or combination has a minimum of 1,500 students in the upper four years of school. Because of the limited funds, districts or combination of districts with a minimum of 3,000 students or more in the upper four years of school will be given priority.

The high school enrollment of the ten districts in Clinton, Fayette and Highland counties is approximately 6,500.

By joining together we improve our priority for state and federal funds and increase our tax base so that a greater variety of vocational programs can be offered with less cost to the taxpayer.

Still, of every 100 children entering the first grade in Ohio, 24 will not finish high school; they will go directly into the job market; but with what skills? Of the 76 who do graduate, 44 will go to work rather than to college; again, with what skills? And even the 32 who go to college will be reduced by drop-outs; only 14 will actually get sheepskins. Altogether, vocational education could give meaningful skills preparation to 86 of every 100 students. There are actually jobs looking for people... people with skills... skills that can be taught best in vocational education.

Why would a student wish to go this route rather than regular graduation?

The big reason is that it can prepare a student with salable skills, in a day when opportunities in technical fields are mushrooming.

Employers are looking for able people with skills, to take high-paying career type jobs.

Are there any other vocational schools in Ohio?

At the present time 15 are in operation. Eight other districts voted monies and have been funded by the State Department of Education. The total at present stands at 23.

Are there state standards which require this type of school?

Yes, by legislative action each high school must offer its students a choice from a minimum of 12 vocational programs by 1974.

Are businesses and industries interested in vocational schools?

Very much so. Many will inquire whether the area in which they want to build a plant site has a vocational school. It means a ready supply to hard-to-get skills. It, therefore, means virtually full employment for graduates - plus far less training and reduced turnover for the employers. Everyone benefits by vocational education.

Couldn't the vote be delayed because of other taxes we are being asked to pay?

If we put off a vote, the money that the state and federal government have earmarked for our area will likely be used somewhere else.

And, chances are, we wouldn't be able to get sufficient financing at a future date. Remember, only half of the money is paid locally; the other half is from state and federal funds. We stand to lose a lot; we stand to gain even more . . . for there are jobs looking for people, maybe your son or daughter.

The Stars Say...

LUCKY STARS:

For ROMANCE—AUG. 26, SEPT. 7, SEPT. 18
—A bright new flame will stimulate your ardent nature.

MAR. 21 to APR. 20 (Aries)—Your outgo may exceed your income, with resultant concern. Don't try to improve the situation by taking long-shot chances.

APR. 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—A good day for exercising your creative talents. New romance in the offing.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Think long and hard before making agreements, committing yourself to new projects. Do not fret, but DO use good judgment.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Aspects, somewhat adverse, suggest that you strive to avoid misunderstandings, keep budget in line and protect assets.

JULY 24 to AUG. 23 (Leo)—Some plans may be disrupted, but take all in stride. Changes will eventually prove beneficial.

AUG. 24 to SEPT. 23 (Virgo)—A new romance will lend interest and excitement to your existence. It may not be of the enduring type, however.

SEPT. 24 to OCT. 23 (Libra)—Your imagination and creativity may be put to good advantage now—even in a new field. Concentrate on the constructive only. Stars helpful.

OCT. 24 to NOV. 22 (Scorpio)—Do not waste time on the trivial.

NOV. 23 to DEC. 21 (Sagittarius)—Avoid haste and rashness in the mistaken notion that you will get ahead more quickly.

DEC. 22 to JAN. 20 (Capricorn)—You may encounter some opposition now but don't bridle. Give a point to gain two.

JAN. 21 to FEB. 19 (Aquarius)—Make no changes in matters running smoothly, but where alterations would benefit the many, make them graciously.

FEB. 20 to MAR. 20 (Pisces)—Situations may not work out as expected. But, with common sense and good judgment, you can pick your way through—and handily.

ASTROSPECTS—Good judgment and careful discrimination needed now. All kinds of propositions will be made—some worthwhile, many on the dubious side. Some out-and-out dishonest schemes are indicated. It will be up to you to distinguish between wheat and chaff, and act accordingly. In any event, do nothing without sober investigation.

TV Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS and ABC launched a sextet of new entertainment programs over the weekend. They included some nice surprises and some disappointments.

CBS, with five new shows, seems to have something good in at least three: "The Tim Conway Comedy Hour" on Sunday night and two situation comedies, "Arnie" and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on Saturday.

Conway's feeling for way-out humor carried the program beyond the half-way point. He opened with a man who hummed instead of a band, and he had a single chorus girl doing ornate dance routines. His best sketch had him playing a Japanese war lord trying to enlist pilots for kamikaze service. The program fell apart at the end with a long, messy sketch about a drunken private eye.

Herschel Bernardi plays a balding, sentimental working man in "Arnie." In the first episode, he was suddenly moved into top management of his company. Bernardi is attractive and so are members of his show's family. The humor is quiet, for the most part.

Mary Tyler Moore plays a frankly 30 career girl in her program. The first episode had her moving into a kooky job and a crazy apartment house. As the characters get sorted out, it promises to be a bright, amusing 30 minutes.

The two series that premiered Friday night may give CBS some headaches.

"The Interns" is a series of stories draped around an assortment of young doctors, each with his own hargrups. Broderick Crawford plays the gruff senior physician. The first program had a number of subplots and seemed to be straining for significance and relevance. It was not particularly relevant.

and, worse, it was not very entertaining.

"Headmaster," bringing Andy Griffith back to weekly television, is a curious mixture of lecture, morality tale and incidental comedy. Griffith plays the head of a school and in the initial show is confronted with a group of students experimenting with pills. Griffith did not appear to have much to say about drug use except that it is bad. The attempt to inject a problem of serious dimensions into a situation comedy—with the comedy very peripheral—resulted in an awkward half hour.

ABC's first premiere of the season, on Sunday night, was "The Young Rebels," which during the next 13 weeks will be showing how three smart young people in Chester, Pa., won the Revolutionary War without much help. The program takes liberties with history and it may very well annoy our British cousins—the Red Coats are not only arrogant but quite stupid.

Recommended tonight: "The Young Lawyers," ABC, 7:30-8:30 EDT, premiere of another legal series; "The Silent Force," ABC, 8:30-9 p.m. premiere of an action series involving organized crime.

Branson Dismissal Legality Studied

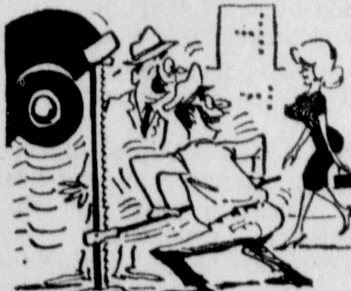

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio attorney general's office has been requested to determine whether the dismissal of Central State University President Herman R. Branson Sept. 10 was legal.

The school's board of trustees, who voted in favor of dismissal in the first place, asked for the legal determination. Branson was deprived of his post following an open dispute between board factions over the appointment of trustee Waverly Glover. Dr. Lewis A. Jackson was named to replace Branson.

Utility Man Retires

LANCASTER—John Walter May, right of way procurement chief for South Central Power Co. has retired after 28 years of service. May of Rt. 1, Lancaster, was first employed by South Central in 1942.

Major Road Jobs To Start During Week

Resurfacing of North Street from the city's north corporation limits to Court Street is expected to begin this week.

The work will be done by Southwest Paving Corp. Following the resurfacing of that section of North Street, work will begin on Court Street.

Traffic will be maintained on both streets during resurfacing.

The resurfacing project is part of a state program to improve North Street, Court Street and Ohio 41-N between this city and Jeffersonville. The bid price of the project was $110,737.35.

City crew members will be preparing the two streets for resurfacing during the week. They must clean surfaces, check curbs and raise manholes before the resurfacing begins, according to Howard Annon, street superintendent.

THE COUNTY road crew will be sealing pavements on Glaze and Lauderdale roads in Marion Township and berming roads in Union Township.

Maple Grove Ditch near U. S. 35 in the north part of the county will be cleaned by the county crew during the week, according to Engineer Charles P. Wagner.

Redecking of the Parrott Station Road bridge also is expected to begin this week, according to the engineer.

State crews will spend the week sealing cracks on Ohio 41-S and berming state highways, according to Superintendent Gene McLean.

Meanwhile, under a state contract, D. E. Goodchild, Inc., Circleville, will begin work on the extension of Ohio 753 linking U. S. 35 and U. S. 22.

The extension is the first link of the proposed U. S. 35 bypass around Washington C. H.

Heavy earth moving equipment has been brought into the area near the intersection of Ohio 753 and U. S. 35 during the past week, but no construction has begun.

Three Belle Aire Properties Sold

Three parcels of real estate in the Belle Aire subdivision brought $20,400 at sheriff's sale Saturday in connection with a partition order in the Common Pleas Court action brought by Joretta Armbrust Brunner against Alvin R. Armbrust and others.

A 4,400-square-foot storage building on Armbrust Avenue, appraised at $9,000, went to Ralph Hickman on a bid of $14,000.

A Warren Avenue building lot, appraised at $3,300, was sold to Charles Starkey, who lives next door at 422 Warren Avenue, on a bid of $3,100, and another residential building lot at Elm Street and Armbrust Avenue, appraised at $4,000, went to Elden A. Armbrust for $3,300. Weade-Miller Realty handled the sale.

WOODEN INDIAN—The wooden Indian (left) looks straight ahead with a fixed gaze as visitors at the Fairground, like Tom Hudson, Rt. 1, London, stop to stare at him and the other objects exhibited at the weekend flea market. The flea market is a part of the show sponsored by the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relics Collectors Association.

Collector Show Crowd Tops 10,000

The turnout for the weekend Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relics Collectors Association show and the flea market at the Fairground just about matched those of July and August, Kenneth Craig, association president, said.

Approximately 800 tables were loaded with displays; all three buildings were crowded, and the area around them was packed again with cars and pickup trucks of the flea market.

A two-day total of 3,368 cars paid 25 cents each, regardless of the number of passengers, to go through the gates; it was estimated that the crowd for both days was more than 10,000. The Sunday crowd was slightly larger than Saturday's.

The feature of the show this month was the competitive display of Winchester guns.

FIRST PLACE went to Charles Workman, of Wilmington, who showed a collection of 10 rare Winchester.

Second place went to Don Anders, of Washington C. H., whose collection included, not only guns, but also many other Winchester items.

These were two of the six unusual outstanding Winchester exhibits entered in the competition.

The judges were Charles Fritz, of Columbus, editor of the column "Antique Gun Values," in the national magazine, Gun Report; Billie Wilson, of Castown, the dean of Ohio gun collectors, and

This was the next-to-last outdoor show of the season.

The November show will feature coins and antiques, mostly rare glass, and the December show will be primarily for guns and Indian relics, Craig said. The flea market will be there, too, but it dwindles somewhat during the winter months.

Commissioners Eye Mental Health Issues

The local mental health program and an increased need for funds to finance it were disclosed by Fayette County Commissioners Monday.

A meeting with the commissioners of four other counties in the local mental health district is slated Monday night in Chillicothe.

The joint board of commissioners will discuss the work of the Mental Health and Retardation Board and review the progress of the Chillicothe Mental Guidance Center, sponsored by the five-county group.

Fayette County currently pays about $4,200 annually to participate in the program.

The state pays three-quarters of the operating expenses of the program, and the county governments pay the remaining one-quarter.

THE COST per citizen has been about 16 cents each for county participation in the local district. However, next year the state plans to double its contribution to the district, thus requiring the counties to double their share to maintain the one quarter cost requirement.

The cost per citizen in Fayette County will have to be raised to 32 cents per person next year to meet the state's change, according to Commissioner Laurence Dumford. Sources of this needed money will be discussed by the commissioners during their meeting in Chillicothe.

The commissioners also will meet with a representative of Ohio University in Chillicothe Wednesday to discuss the sale of Mount Logan Sanatorium.

The appraisal of the institution's grounds and building is expected to be completed by that time.

A special statute was passed by the Ohio General Assembly allowing the university to purchase the former sanatorium without competing bids if it so desired. The institution must, however, pay the appraised value of the land. Three appraising firms were hired to determine independently the value of the land.

The institution was closed earlier this year due to soaring costs and a decrease in the number of tuberculosis patients from the counties that supported the hospital.

Driver, 15, Charged With Four Offenses

City police arrested a 15-year-old Washington C. H. boy on four traffic charges, including drunken driving, following a chase early Sunday following a hit-and-run accident in the city.

The same car involved in that incident, later Sunday was involved in another crash which involved three injuries and a total of $1,100 damage to two cars.

The two mishaps were among a total of nine traffic accidents investigated in the city - county area over the weekend which involved more than $5,000 damage to 13 vehicles. A total of six persons were injured and six drivers were cited for 11 traffic offenses.

ORVILLE CRABTREE, 1121 Rawlings St., driver of a 1962 model car owned by Lester Hickman, 729 E. Temple St., was involved in a hit-and-run accident at 1:38 a.m. Sunday in the 1100 block of Gregg Street, city police said.

Patrolman William Robinson said Crabtree backed into a fence and left the scene by driving through a yard at 1103 Gregg St. Robinson said the accident was reported by a witness who said the car left, but returned, apparently for the driver to see how much damage was done.

Robinson spotted the car westbound on Gregg Street at Delaware Street and attempted to stop it. Instead, the driver fled north onto N. North Street and north on Ohio 41 with Robinson in pursuit.

Crabtree lost control of the car while turning onto Wildwood Road, the officer said. The car ran into a ditch and then back onto the road. Crabtree brought the car to a stop and he and a passenger fled over a fence and into a field.

Robinson said Crabtree fell and was apprehended while the unidentified passenger escaped on foot. Crabtree was jailed on charges of drunken driving, reckless operation, driving without an operator's license and fleeing from a police officer. The incident is still under investigation.

THE SAME CAR, which had received an estimated $75 damage in the accident, was involved in a second crash at 9:50 a.m. at the Lewis Street - Rawlings Street intersection.

City police charged Gary L. Weeter, 36, of 231 N. Fayette St., with failure to yield at a stop sign and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Officers said Weeter was westbound on Rawlings Street, ran the stop sign and struck the 1962 model car driven by Lester W. Hickman, 49, of 739 E. Temple St. This time, the Hickman car received damage estimated at $500 and Weeter's car had $600 damage.

Bernice Hickman, 41, suffered abrasions and contusions of the head; Glenna Hickman, 11, contusions of the head; and Weeter a laceration of the forehead. All three were treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

CARY MABRA, 32, of Jeffersonville, suffered a lacerated forehead in a two-car traffic accident in the 700 block of Rawlings Street at 9:03 p.m. Saturday. He also was cited by city police for reckless operation.

Officers said Mabra's westbound car struck a parked vehicle owned by Erma Corns, 508 Campbell St., causing an estimated $500 damage to the Mabra car and $350 to Mrs. Corns.

Mrs. McDonald, who spoke on the candidacy of Mrs. Gertrude Donahay for state treasurer; and Joseph Ferguson, a candidate for state auditor, who was critical of the present auditor's order that findings by examiners not be made public.

"A national newspaper said just last week that no state is in worse shape than Ohio."

The administration's response, McDonald said, "Has been get itself mired in the current Statehouse mess that has seen the people of Ohio lose at least $2 million in their tax money from illegal loans that lined the pockets of large contributors to Republican campaigns."

RAY STEVENS, of Clermont County, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, emphasized the importance of health problems, saying "I believe I can help solve them." He also spoke at Greenfield and Hillsboro where

Two persons were injured and damage was estimated at $1,600 in a two-car mishap at 12:05 p.m. Sunday at the Delaware Street - Rawlings Street intersection.

Drivers involved were Earl W. Greer, 72, of 622 Peabody Ave., and Daisy E. Wilson, 64, of 739 Gregg St. Officers said Greer drove from Rawlings Street onto Delaware in the path of the Wilson car.

Greer was cited for failure to yield right of way. His wife, Mary, 66, received bruises of the shoulder and hip, and Mrs. Wilson a whiplash injury. They were both taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment.

IN OTHER accidents Saturday, two drivers were cited for infractions, one for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

He was Wayne A. Lyall, 29, of Cable, whose 1968 model car ran off the left side of Ohio 41, 5.3 miles south of Washington C. H. In addition to drunken driving, Lyall was charged with driving left of center by sheriff's deputies. Damage to his car was estimated
